

Cockapoo Space Needs

Cockapoo vary in sizes, largely depending on whether it's parents are miniatures or standard sizes.

If your cockapoo's parents are teacup poodles, chances are, they'll turn out as a miniature size as well. Small dogs like these are perfect for apartment living. They adapt well to living without gardens and large open spaces.

However, if your cockapoo's parents are standard sized poodles, they will likely turn out to be medium sized dogs when fully grown. Though they are able to adapt to apartment living, but you should take your dog out to the park so very often. They need all the space and exercise they can get.